Community

WHAT DOES IT MEAN TO SAY THE CHURCH IS A COMMUNITY?

INTRODUCTION

We say the church is a community, but what does that mean? How can a group of distinct individuals be one community? What binds them together? These are the questions that arise when we speak of the church as community.

HISTORICAL BACKGROUND

Talk of community in the church is rooted in various concepts, primary among these is the notion of fellowship or koinonia. In Scripture Paul presents the relationship of believers to one another as a shared experience of salvation. This is often referred to in the Greek as koinonia. Within the Greek cultural context the concept had wide-ranging meanings related to various types of common enterprises. However, the New Testament emphasis is upon the participation "in something," particularly realities outside one's existence, rather than association "with someone" which is often the emphasis in contemporary notions of "fellowship."

In Paul's writing we regularly see this idea of participation in spiritual realities, such as in the description of the Lord's Supper to the Corinthians. Here, the Lord's Supper signifies fellowship with Jesus Christ where the sharing of a common meal is a sharing in the body and blood of Christ. The Philippians are another instance of fellowship in terms of participation, but this time it is in reference to sharing in the fellowship of the Holy Spirit (Phil 1:7). Both of these examples speak more about participation in the Holy Spirit rather than the fellowship created by the Holy Spirit. Sharing in the Spirit is the decisive factor in their life together.

Scripture shows us that believers are formed into a community, but in what sense do we "belong to one another" in Christ (Rom 12:5)? From a Trinitarian perspective, we might think of it in three terms:

God's rule--from the rule of God comes membership in a community that consents to that rule. This implies taking up discipleship, a discipleship that is shaped by conversion and baptism, nourished in the life of Christ through participation in the Lord's Supper.

The centrality of Christ--through the centrality of Christ emerges a community of faith defined by the story of Jesus Christ. The church is bound to the faith of its members, since faith is not an individual human accomplishment, and shares a mutual commitment to Jesus Christ as Lord. It is a fellowship shaped by the crucified and risen Christ.

The power of the Holy Spirit--by the work of the Holy Spirit believing and confessing human beings are constituted into the church. It is not that each person fashions himself or herself into a member of the church, but rather through their pluriform confessing the Spirit makes them into one body.

It is clear in Scripture that this concept of community has both an individual and a corporate aspect and that the role of the Holy Spirit is integral. Throughout the Old and New Testaments, the primary work of the Holy Spirit is to bestow shared life on the people of God. There are many stories in the Old Testament about the ruach (Spirit) enlivening certain people. There is also Israel's longing for a corporate bestowal of the life of the Spirit on God's people. The New Testament maintains the concept of bestowal of life, power, and vitality on individuals. The Spirit gives life (2 Cor. 3:6; Jn. 6:63). Alongside this there is a corporate bestowal of the Spirit. The narrative of the Day of Pentecost is notable for its corporate emphasis where we see the outpouring of the Spirit which results in a life of community (Acts 2:42-47). The Holy Spirit constitutes the unity of the body of Christ (Eph. 4:1-4) and supplies the koinonia or fellowship that keeps us one (Phil. 2:1-2). In terms of the creeds of the church we refer to this as oneness or unity which is a gift to the church by the Spirit.

ENTRANCE ANTIPHON

PHIL 4:4-5

Rejoice in the Lord always; again I say, rejoice.

Indeed, the Lord is near.

FIRST READING

ZEP 3:14-18

A reading from the prophet Zephaniah

With gladness the Lord will rejoice over you.

Shout for joy, daughter of Zion, Israel, shout aloud!

Rejoice, exult with all your heart, daughter of Jerusalem!

The Lord has repealed your sentence; he has driven your enemies away.

The Lord, the king of Israel, is in your midst; you have no more evil to fear.

When that day comes, word will come to Jerusalem:

Zion, have no fear, do not let your hands fall limp.

The Lord your God is in your midst, a victorious warrior.

He will exult with joy over you, he will renew you by his love; he will dance with shouts of joy for you as on a day of festival.

RESPONSORIAL PSALM

IS 12:2-6 R. V.6

(R.) Cry out with joy and gladness: for among you is the great and Holy One of Israel.

1. Truly, God is my salvation, I trust, I shall not fear.

For the Lord is my strength, my song, he became my saviour.

With joy you will draw water from the wells of salvation.

(R.) Cry out with joy and gladness: for among you is the great and Holy One of Israel.

2. Give thanks to the Lord, give praise to his name!

Make his mighty deeds known to the peoples!

Declare the greatness of his name.

(R.) Cry out with joy and gladness: for among you is the great and Holy One of Israel.

3. Sing a psalm to the Lord for he has done glorious deeds, make them known to all the earth!

People of Zion, sing and shout for joy for great in your midst is the Holy One of Israel.

(R.) Cry out with joy and gladness: for among you is the great and Holy One of Israel.

SECOND READING

PHIL 4:4-7

A reading from the letter of St Paul to

the Philippians

The Lord is near.

I want you to be happy, always happy in the Lord; I repeat, what I want is your happiness. Let your tolerance be evident to everyone: the Lord is very near. There is no need to worry; but if there is anything you need, pray for it, asking God for it with prayer and thanksgiving, and that peace of God, which is so much greater than we can understand, will guard your hearts and your thoughts, in Christ Jesus.

GOSPEL ACCLAMATION

IS 61:1 (LK 4:18)

Alleluia, alleluia!

The Spirit of the Lord is upon me; he sent me to bring Good News to the poor.

Alleluia!

GOSPEL

LK 3:10-18

A reading from the holy Gospel according to Luke

What, then, must we do?

When all the people asked John, 'What must we do?' he answered, 'If anyone has two tunics he must share with the man who has none, and the one with something to eat must do the same.' There were tax collectors too who came for baptism, and these said to him, 'Master, what must we do?' He said to them, 'Exact no more than your rate.' Some soldiers asked him in their turn, 'What about us? What must we do?' He said to them, 'No intimidation! No extortion! Be content with your pay!'

A feeling of expectancy had grown among the people, who were beginning to think that John might be the Christ, so John declared before them all, 'I baptise you with water, but someone is coming, someone who is more powerful than I am, and I am not fit to undo the strap of his sandals; he will baptise you with the Holy Spirit and fire. His winnowing-fan is in his hand to clear his threshing-floor and to gather the wheat into his barn; but the chaff he will burn in a fire that will never go out.' As well as this, there were many other things he said to exhort the people and to announce the Good News to them.

COMMUNION ANTIPHON

CF. IS 35:4

Say to the faint of heart: Be strong and do not fear.

Behold, our God will come, and he will save us.

SCRIPTURE COMMENTARY

BY DIANNE BERGANT CSA

The exaltation in this oracle of salvation is stated clearly at the outset: 'Shout!... Sing!... Be glad and exult!' The people are told to cast aside all cautious reserve and to rejoice wholeheartedly. The reason for this rejoicing is their deliverance by God from their enemies. 'On that day' is an allusion to the Day of the Lord, a time in the future when the justice of God will be executed throughout the world. The concluding verses express God's love. They describe both the tenderness that God has for this restored people, and the joy that their restoration elicits in God. The people are called to rejoice in God, because God rejoices in them.

In the response, God is declared the source of salvation. Bolstered by this assurance, the writer claims to be unafraid and filled with courage knowing that the source of salvation is the Lord rather than a mere human being. Here water is transformative. It is the water of salvation and all who draw from this well will be refreshed by God's salvific power. Jerusalem, the royal capital of the Davidic dynasty and the site where the temple was built, is called upon to rejoice, for God is in its midst. The presence of God in the midst of the people is the source of the writer's confidence of future deliverance.

Twice Paul calls the people to rejoice. This is followed by another, perhaps more forceful, admonition: 'Have no anxiety'. The joy that Paul advocates is not merely the happiness that comes from enjoyment of life. It is a special kind of joy, joy in the Lord, the kind that is grounded in faith in Jesus Christ. 'The Lord is near' is an eschatological watchword, acclaiming the future coming of the Lord to set all things right. If the Christians live righteously, God will come as a Saviour. The reward for such commitment to righteousness is peace, which originates from God, transcends everything imaginable, and withstands anxiety that might threaten human equanimity.

Although John himself lives an austere life removed from the ordinary pursuits of people, he does not ask his inquirers to dissociate themselves from their own lives or occupations. Rather, he challenges them to continue where they are, but to carry out their daily responsibilities with concern for others, with honesty and integrity. The expectation that filled the people was eschatological; they were looking for the Christ, the 'anointed one'. John was not this one. His baptism with water was a ritual of repentance and cleansing; Christ's baptism of the Spirit will purge and transform, and his coming will be a time of judgment, when the wicked will be separated like chaff from the wheat and will be thrown into the fire. John's ministry calls for the change of heart required of those who would be saved from this distress.
