SCRIPTURE COMMENTARY

BY DIANNE BERGANT CSA

Jeremiah's oracle contains a curse and a blessing. He uses nature imagery to contrast two individuals. The one who turns away from God is barren and desolate, like a desert, while the one who trusts in God is firmly planted near water, the source of life. This one is not spared the hardship of heat, but, because the source of life is so near and because its roots have forged their way underground to that source, the drought that often accompanies heat is not a serious threat. The one who trusts in the Lord is secure and productive. This passage exhorts the hearers to choose the way that guarantees security and productivity.

This psalm contrasts the way of the wise or righteous and the way of the foolish or wicked. The former live in harmony with the order set by God. They delight in the law and they follow it. The latter prefer to live against God's order. They choose the way of the wicked, the sinners, the insolent. Since the order within the world, established at the time of creation, somehow directs the outcome of one's behaviour, a life that is faithful to this order will enjoy its fruits; a life that is unfaithful will reap the consequences of such behaviour. The psalmist draws on experience rather than religious tradition to illustrate the point of the instruction.

Paul proclaimed and interpreted the good news of Christ's resurrection. He defends belief in bodily resurrection against those who do not believe in it. The Sadducees rejected any development of the law. Belief in reward and/or punishment after this life was one of the concepts that they rejected. Some Christians believed that, through baptism, believers were joined to the risen Christ and were already living the resurrected life. In their eyes, there was no need for any further resurrection after death. Based on his understanding of union with Christ, Paul argues that Christians' failure to rise suggests that Christ never rose before them. Their resurrection is dependent on his and demonstrates the fruitfulness of his resurrection.

Jesus singles out four life situations that make people blessed. He then identifies their opposites and declares them as being woeful. The blessed are those who are poor, hungry, sorrowful, or persecuted, while the woeful ones are the rich, the satisfied, the joyful, the respected. Jesus has overturned the standards of this age and has established new standards, those of the reign of God. Perhaps the heart of this teaching is found in the last beatitude and the last woe. The followers of Jesus will be hated and marginalised and scorned; they will be like the prophets of old. Conversely, the disciples should be wary when they are accepted and esteemed; this could mean that they enjoy approval because they deliver a message that contains no call to conversion.

ENTRANCE ANTIPHON

CF. PS 30:3-4

Be my protector, O God, a mighty stronghold to save me.

For you are my rock, my stronghold!

Lead me, guide me, for the sake of your name.

FIRST READING

JER 17:5-8

A reading from the prophet Jeremiah

A curse on those who trust in humanity; a blessing on those who trust in the Lord.

The Lord says this:

'A curse on the man who puts his trust in man, who relies on things of flesh, whose heart turns from the Lord.

He is like dry scrub in the wastelands:

if good comes, he has no eyes for it, he settles in the parched places of the wilderness, a salt land, uninhabited.

'A blessing on the man who puts his trust in the Lord, with the Lord for his hope.

He is like a tree by the waterside that thrusts its roots to the stream:

when the heat comes it feels no alarm, its foliage stays green; it has no worries in a year of drought, and never ceases to bear fruit.'

RESPONSORIAL PSALM

PS 1:1-4. R. PS 39:5

(R.) Happy are they who hope in the Lord.

1. Happy indeed is the man who follows not the counsel of the wicked; nor lingers in the way of sinners nor sits in the company of scorners, but whose delight is the law of the Lord and who ponders his law day and night.

(R.) Happy are they who hope in the Lord.

2. He is like a tree that is planted beside the flowing waters, that yields its fruit in due season and whose leaves shall never fade; and all that he does shall prosper.

(R.) Happy are they who hope in the Lord.

3. Not so are the wicked, not so!

For they like winnowed chaff shall be driven away by the wind.

For the Lord guards the way of the just but the way of the wicked leads to doom.

(R.) Happy are they who hope in the Lord.

SECOND READING

1 COR 15:12, 16-20

A reading from the first letter of St Paul to the Corinthians

If Christ is not raised from the dead, your faith is in vain.

If Christ raised from the dead is what has been preached, how can some of you be saying that there is no resurrection of the dead? For if the dead are not raised, Christ has not been raised, and if Christ has not been raised, you are still in your sins. And what is more serious, all who have died in Christ have perished. If our hope in Christ has been for this life only, we are the most unfortunate of all people.

But Christ has in fact been raised from the dead, the first-fruits of all who have fallen asleep.

GOSPEL ACCLAMATION

LK 6:23

Alleluia, alleluia!

Rejoice and be glad; your reward is great in heaven.

Alleluia!

GOSPEL

LK 6:17. 20-26

A reading from the holy Gospel according to Luke

Happy are the poor. Woe to the rich!

Jesus came down with the Twelve and stopped at a piece of level ground where there was a large gathering of his disciples with a great crowd of people from all parts of Judaea and from Jerusalem and from the coastal region of Tyre and Sidon who had come to hear him and to be cured of their diseases.

Then fixing his eyes on his disciples he said:

'How happy are you who are poor: yours is the kingdom of God.

Happy you who are hungry now: you shall be satisfied.

Happy you who weep now: you shall laugh.

'Happy are you when people hate you, drive you out, abuse you, denounce your name as criminal, on account of the Son of Man. Rejoice when that day comes and dance for joy, for then your reward will be great in heaven. This was the way their ancestors treated the prophets.'

'But alas for you who are rich: you are having your consolation now.

Alas for you who have your fill now: you shall go hungry.

Alas for you who laugh now: you shall mourn and weep.

'Alas for you when the world speaks well of you! This was the way their ancestors treated the false prophets.'
