SCRIPTURE COMMENTARY

BY BRENDAN BYRNE SJ

In today's Gospel (Mark 8:27-35) we reach a true watershed in the Gospel of Mark. Jesus explicitly raises with his disciples the issue of his identity. As readers of the Gospel, we have known from the start that he is 'the Messiah, the Son of God' (1:1). But this has been concealed from all other participants in the drama save Jesus himself, who immediately following his baptism by John has heard the Father declare from heaven, 'You are my Son, the beloved, with whom I am well pleased' (1:11). As Jesus' ministry in the cities and towns of Galilee unfolded, the disciples have wrestled with the question that they voice immediately after he has calmed the sea, 'Who is this, then, that even the winds and the sea obey him?' (4:41). People have been struck by the authority of his teaching and by his powerful works of healing and exorcism (1:22, 27). Only the demons, feeling the force of his power, acknowledge his identity as Son of God. But Jesus will not allow them to speak; his identity is not to be revealed from malign sources such as these.

Now, however, the moment has come for Jesus to draw from the disciples an explicit acknowledgement of his identity as Messiah. He approaches the issue in a somewhat roundabout way, first asking them to report on who the people in general think he is. The response comes back in the shape of various prophetic figures. Increasingly, however, the disciples, as distinct from the mass of the people, have been the focus of Jesus' attention and instruction. So, when Jesus puts the question directly to them, it is not surprising that Peter as spokesperson for the group gets it right: 'You are the Christ (the Messiah).' In contrast to the people, they have this privileged knowledge of his true identity.

Jesus neither confirms nor applauds Peter's response. Instead, he strictly enjoins the disciples not to pass on this knowledge to anyone else and then goes on immediately to speak – for the first of several times in the Gospel – of his coming passion and death. The knowledge that he is Messiah is not to be separated for a moment from the kind of Messiah he is destined to be: not one who will be served and honoured, as is customary in the case of rulers of this world, but one who is 'to serve and give his life as a ransom for many' (10:45).

For the remainder of the Gospel the disciples will have to wrestle – quite unsuccessfully as it turns out – with holding together two truths concerning Jesus: on the one hand, that he is indeed the long-awaited Messiah; on the other hand, that he will fulfil his messianic role by entering into the pain and suffering of this world, even to the point of death – something totally unforeseen in Jewish messianic expectation.

Peter's remonstrance with Jesus voices just this sense of incompatibility between the two. How can it be that the Messiah should suffer in such a way! How could God allow this to happen to the Chosen One, the instrument of Israel's salvation? The long journey to Jerusalem that makes up the second half of the Gospel will be mainly taken up with a futile attempt on Jesus' part to get the disciples to confront this issue. Only the women disciples will show some greater understanding and remain with Jesus in his suffering to the end (14:3-9; 15:40-41, 47).

Jesus' rebuke to Peter is very severe: 'Get behind me, Satan!' While doubtless well meant, the attempt to hold back Jesus from his divinely ordained path is to play Satan's game: namely, to frustrate God's gift of life to the world through the cross of Jesus. It will be by taking the road to death that Jesus will become the instrument of life, and those who would be his associates must go the same way: take up their cross and follow after him.

The fact that Peter who has just got something so splendidly right stumbles so badly at the thought of suffering can be, nonetheless, an encouragement for us – a recognition in the gospels that we all do badly at suffering. At the end of the story (the passion) the disciples – the male disciples at least – failed miserably. But that wasn't the real end of the story. God's power triumphed over human failure in resurrection.

The First Reading offers the Third Servant Song of Isaiah (50:5-9) as an appropriate background for the sense of a suffering instrument of God that emerges in the Gospel. We should be aware, however, that such texts were not interpreted in reference to the Messiah in pre-Christian Judaism.

In the Second Reading, James 2:14-18, James continues to insist that faith must express itself in realistic social concern.

on the celebration of the 50th Wedding Anniversary!

Trevor & Sheila were married on September 14, 1974 at St Pius X Catholic Church, Capetown, South Africa and we wish them a future full of good health and happiness.

PRIESTS' SACRISTY BATHROOM

Thanks to the generous voluntary work of the tiler, who would like to remain anonymous, and our plumber (Chris) we have achieved a very economical update of the original 1960's WC facilities for our priests. We are very grateful and very proud of their work. May God bless them both.

WE ALSO SINCERELY THANK

a parishioner, who would also prefer anonymity, for her generous donation of the cost of landscaping materials to obscure one's vision of the multiple air conditioning condensers that grace the Victoria St face of the church, emissions from which cause damage to our plants. Voluntarily work will be undertaken soon to erect the barriers. Again, we are very grateful.

SALVATORIAN MEETING IN PERTH!

Last week Salvatorian Fathers from around Australia gathered together for reflection day on prayer, personal development day, supervision and community time! It was also time to celebrate significant priestly jubilees of some priests.

ENTRANCE ANTIPHON

Cf SIRACH 36:18

Give peace, O Lord, to those who wait for you, that your prophets be found true.

Hear the prayers of your servant, and of your people Israel.

FIRST READING

ISAIAH 50:5-9

A reading from the prophet Isaiah I gave my body to those who struck me.

The Lord has opened my ear.

For my part, I made no resistance, neither did I turn away.

I offered my back to those who struck me, my cheeks to those who tore at my beard; I did not cover my face against insult and spittle.

The Lord comes to my help, so that I am untouched by the insults.

So, too, I set my face like flint; I know I shall not be shamed.

My vindicator is here at hand.

Does anyone start proceedings against me?

Then let us go to court together.

Who thinks he has a case against me?

Let him approach me.

The Lord is coming to my help, who dare condemn me?

RESPONSORIAL PSALM

Ps 114:1-6. 8-9. R. v.9

(R.) I will walk in the presence of the Lord, in the land of the living.

1. I love the Lord for he has heard the cry of my appeal; for he turned his ear to me in the day when I called him.

(R.) I will walk in the presence of the Lord, in the land of the living.

2. They surrounded me, the snares of death, with anguish of the tomb; they caught me, sorrow and distress.

I called on the Lord's name.

O Lord my God, deliver me!

(R.) I will walk in the presence of the Lord, in the land of the living.

3. How gracious is the Lord, and just; our God has compassion.

The Lord protects the simple hearts; I was helpless so he saved me.

(R.) I will walk in the presence of the Lord, in the land of the living.

4. He has kept my soul from death, my eyes from tears and my feet from stumbling.

I will walk in the presence of the Lord in the land of the living.

(R.) I will walk in the presence of the Lord, in the land of the living.

SECOND READING

JAMES 2:14-18

A reading from the letter of St James

Faith without good works is dead.

Take the case, my brothers, of someone who has never done a single good act but claims that he has faith. Will that faith save him? If one of the brothers or one of the sisters is in need of clothes and has not enough food to live on, and one of you says to them, 'I wish you well; keep yourself warm and eat plenty,' without giving them these bare necessities of life, then what good is that? Faith is like that: if good works do not go with it, it is quite dead.

This is the way to talk to people of that kind: 'You say you have faith and I have good deeds; I will prove to you that I have faith by showing you my good deeds – now you prove to me that you have faith without any good deeds to show.'

GOSPEL ACCLAMATION

GALATIANS 6:14

Alleluia, alleluia!

My only glory is the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, which crucifies the world to me and me to the world.

Alleluia!

GOSPEL

MARK 8:27-35

A reading from the holy Gospel according to Mark

You are the Christ ... the Son of Man was destined to suffer much.

Jesus and his disciples left for the villages round Caesarea Philippi. On the way he put this question to his disciples, 'Who do people say I am?' And they told him. 'John the Baptist,' they said, 'others Elijah; others again, one of the prophets.' 'But you,' he asked, 'who do you say I am?' Peter spoke up and said to him, 'You are the Christ.' And he gave them strict orders not to tell anyone about him.

And he began to teach them that the Son of Man was destined to suffer grievously, to be rejected by the elders and the chief priests and the scribes, and to be put to death, and after three days to rise again; and he said all this quite openly. Then, taking him aside, Peter started to remonstrate with him. But, turning and seeing his disciples, he rebuked Peter and said to him, 'Get behind me, Satan! Because the way you think is not God's way but man's.'

He called the people and his disciples to him and said, 'If anyone wants to be a follower of mine, let him renounce himself and take up his cross and follow me. For anyone who wants to save his life will lose it; but anyone who loses his life for my sake, and for the sake of the gospel, will save it.'

COMMUNION ANTIPHON

Cf PSALM 35:8

How precious is your mercy, O God!

The children of men seek shelter in the shadow of your wings.
